

About 126,000 results (0.47 seconds)

Stop SESTA: Congress Doesn't Understand How Section 230 Works

EFF - Sep 7, 2017

Section 230 generally immunizes Internet intermediaries from legal liability for hosting user-generated content. Many websites or services that ...

Stop SESTA: Section 230 is Not Broken

EFF - Sep 6, 2017

Section 230 can be credited with creating today's Internet—with its abundance of unique platforms and services that enable a vast array of ...

Google and Sex Traffickers Like Backpage.com

Highly Cited - New York Times - Sep 7, 2017

View all

Activists want to fight sex trafficking by changing a key Internet law

Ars Technica - Sep 6, 2017

Many technology companies consider Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act to be a foundation of the Internet economy. The 1996 ...

Stop SESTA: Amendments to Federal Criminal Sex Trafficking Law ...

EFF - Sep 8, 2017

Not only would both bills eviscerate the immunity from liability for user-generated content that Internet intermediaries have under Section 230, ...

section 230

Web Images Videos Maps News My saves

Top Stories US World Local Entertainment Sci/Tech Business Politics Sports Health Product

Any time Best match

13,200,000 RESULTS

'Big tech' companies such as Facebook are skating on thin ice

It's worth understanding how Section 230 came about and affected the internet ecosystem, and how recent efforts may now be putting it at risk. The world was a very different place ...

The Hill - 2d

Human Trafficking

Sex Trafficking Expert: CDA 230 Helps Victims And SESTA Would Harm Trafficking Victims

More than two decades later, Section 230 allows people to do more than just set the terms of acceptable speech. It also empowers countless users — including the FBI, victim advocates, concerned citizens, family members, and nonprofit ...

Tech Dirt - 11d

Web Platforms

Web platforms facing liability for damaging user statements

Aaron Mackey wrote in a legislative analysis for the Electronic Frontier Foundation of his opposition to the Senate's proposed Stop Enabling Sex Trafficking Act and a House ...

World Net Daily - 14h

More from Bing News

Health Threats From Harvey

Wall Street Gains

Ezekiel Elliott Hearing Over

U.S. Bombing Drills

Arkema Chemic Plant Fire

section 230

Web Images Videos News

All Regions ▾ Safe Search: Strict ▾ Any Time ▾

Activists want to fight sex trafficking by changing a key Internet law

Many technology companies consider Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act to be the a foundation of the Internet economy. Now, Congress is considering the first significant change to ...

 Ars Technica | 5 days ago

Oracle breaks with tech industry in backing human trafficking bill

Sex Traffickers Act, sponsored by Senator Richard Blumenthal (D-CT) and Senator Robert Portman (R-OH), would amend a part of a 90's era law (section 230) currently protecting social networking ...

 TechCrunch | 4 days ago

Why is Silicon Valley fighting a sex trafficking bill?

The Stop Enabling Sex Traffickers Act of 2017 would amend Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act (CDA) to hold websites liable for publishing information "designed to facilitate sex trafficking ...

 The Guardian | 4 days ago

Fatal car accident in Ellsworth shuts down section of Rt 3

ELLSWORTH, Maine (NEWS CENTER) — A section of Route 3 in Ellsworth closed early Monday morning due to a fatal car accident.

 WCSH 6 Portland | 4 hours ago

Opinion | Google and Sex Traffickers Like Backpage.com

The answer has to do with Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act, which protects Internet companies like Google (and The New York Times) from lawsuits — and also protects Backpage.

 New York Times | 4 days ago

Portman says more tech support coming on anti-sex-trafficking bill

With help from John Hendel PORTMAN SAYS MORE TECH SUPPORT COMING FOR SECTION 230 BILL — Sen. Rob Portman (R-Ohio) says he expects more tech firms to get on board the anti-

